State Normal Business School

INDIANA, PA.

Commercial Teachers' Training Course

Prepares teachers to teach Commercial Subjects in High Schools and Academies. Salaries offered are very attractive.

Trained Help Wanted

In the business world today there are no calls for the young man or young woman who "can do almost anything." The calls are for trained help, for persons who can do some one thing well. Private secretaries, stenographers, book-keepers and trained office assistants are always in demand, and they command excellent salaries. The completion of one of these courses with us means Life-Long Independence.

THE GROWTH OF THE SCHOOL

The teachers in this school have noted the improvements which have been made during the last six or seven years as little as a passenger down stream in the midst of the Amazon notices the motion of the water. Passing a conspicuous mile-stone, however, forces on our attention the progress and causes us to remember that years of thought and action led the way to these changes.

Work on a plant to furnish heat, light, and power for the school is just ending. The plant is large enough to take care of the needs of the school, even after several large buildings which are to be built are in commission. Not until these buildings are completed and in use will the man in the street recognize the constructive imagination, the tact, and the foresight which originated and carried through to completion the scheme of a central power plant.

Professor See and Mrs. See have charge of a new cottage which had to be secured to accommodate the increasing body of students. The happy homes which these cottages shelter, do much to increase the efficiency of our school.

The campus has been much improved by the construction of walks, by the improvement of the lighting system, etc.

We are glad to note that the Principal has been able to see his way to increase the equipment of the school for the teaching of the sciences in a way commensurate with their importance. Although it is true as the old Greek said, that nobody knows whether you are happy until you are dead, science in the modern curriculum is a rapidly growing subject. Wisely or unwisely we are going to devote much more time, thought, and money to stimulating the love of science. The advocates of the humanities are losing heart and Miss Leonard is calculating the pressure in the tires of her car in dynes per square centimeter. The enthusiasm and spirit of mutual helpfulness and affection which characterize our teachers of science augur well for the successful use of the new apparatus.

The future explorer of America, standing on White's Hill, will point to the south and say: "That is where the Pennsylvania State Normal stood, two thousand years ago."

THE RETURN OF THE PRODIGAL

We were cheered by the return of Mr. Waite, this fall. We experience an indescribable pleasure when our former teachers drop in on us. The pleasure is all the greater when the teacher has endeared himself as Mr. Waite did. To be born with a silver spoon is sometimes a blessing, but to have the power of making friends is always such.

THE DINING ROOM

The efficient conduct of the dining room is one more illustration of the success which women are achieving in this twentieth century. As the head of the dining room Miss Davis has secured the services of Miss Gallagher. We congratulate Miss Davis on her success.

Mary Mintor.

NOTICE

At the business meeting of the Alumni Association of the Indiana Normal School of Pennsylvania, Tuesday, May 24th, the undersigned was appointed to assist in correcting the addresses of members of the Alumni as they appear in the catalog directory. If any of the readers of the "Normal Herald" know of any change that should be made in the directory, a favor will be conferred by reporting to the undersigned at once.

LEST WE FORGET

Seven changes have taken place in the Indiana faculty this year. Seven new figures preside in the class rooms; seven familiar faces are missed in the school.

Miss Hope Stewart, who for several years has been one of the most efficient critic teachers in the Model School, resigned her position that she might continue her study in Teachers' College, Columbia University.

Conservatory students upon their return this year failed to find Mr. and Mrs. William Wrigley at their former posts. Our friends have established a studio in Cleveland where their recitals are well attended by music-lovers of the city.

In the language department Miss Ella Agard, instructor in English, and Miss Kathryn Rummell, our genial French teacher, are no longer present.

Miss Rummell is at her home in Newark, New Jersey; and Miss Agard holds a position in the schools of Ithaca, New York, where her sister, Miss Bertha Agard, biology teacher last year, is attending Cornell University.

The pressure on our teachers to prepare themselves more thoroughly for the work before them is evidenced by the fact that not only Miss Agard, but Mr. Paul W. Allen, chemistry teacher last year, is spending this year in study at Cornell.

Indiana greatly regrets the loss of these faithful instructors and can desire for themselves no greater success than that they be as efficient elsewhere as they were at Indiana.

Yet while we deplore the loss of the teachers who have sought work in other fields, we at the same time recognize the good fortune which enables Indiana to retain so great a number of her former faculty, and to fill the vacant places with instructors only less esteemed because less known.

"The King is dead!
Long live the King!"

Mabel Mason.

THE NEW TEACHERS

There was much speculation last spring concerning the filling of the vacancies in the teaching force. It is true that a new broom sweeps clean, except in the case of new teachers; but here we do not have to make an exception.

Miss Anna Hunt, of Rochester, N. Y., we welcome back. Miss Hunt received the degree of A. B. from the University of Rochester, last year. She defends the line on the English side.

Mr. Ralph Talbot, the man of the cynical smile, graduated from Bucknell University in the spring of 1913. We welcome him as the chemistry teacher.

Although the members of the faculty and the Conservatory recall longingly Mr. and Mrs. Wrigley, we are consoled by the presence of Mr. Orley See and his charming wife. Mr. See comes to us from the State Normal of Warrensburg, Mo. Mr. See has had the advantage of study with some of the masters of the violin. Mrs. See studied music at Thiparson Conservatory, Deninson University and at Lexington College, Lexington, Mo.

We are pleased to reckon in our number Miss Flora L. Earl of Ithaca, N. Y. She graduated from Cornell University last spring and is fast making a warm place in our hearts.

Jemima Hugus.

The Highest Riches

We are surrounded by a great world,—grand, beautiful, inspiring. In the perfection of its creation we recognize the work of the Infinite. Its wonders fill us with awe and reverence, and we feign would understand more of its phenomena.

But we turn from these natural wonders to view the world of the individual. Within each one there are the possibilities of an uncreated world, and it is the highest duty of man to unfold these possibilities into a complete life.

To the attainment of this complete life there is but one barrier; that is the barrier set by self. So far as other people are concerned every human being having reasonable opportunities might attain a complete development. But ignorance, especially of self, is the great barrier to progress in self-development. Because of this people live dwarfed and stunted lives missing the larger life possible to us all. How many there are blinded by the dust of the earth so that they do not see the higher and nobler things of life, the only things worth while!

The force which will enable the individual to develop his possibilities is thought. Thoughts are the great forces with which man builds. Every thing must be worked out in the unseen before it is manifested in the seen; in the ideal before it is realized in the real.

People condemn the man who builds air castles, but must there not be castles in the air before there can be castles in actuality? It is true that many dream dreams which they never try to realize, yet every manifested attainment is the result of a thought process. Call it an air-castle, a dream if you like, but condemn only the man who does not try to actualize the air-castles he has built. Thoughts are indeed forces, and to govern one's thinking is to determine the course of one's life and to attain finally to the highest riches, a complete life.

Can the individual alone govern the course of his thought, and direct it into worthy channels which shall lead towards the attainment of a complete life? Is there no source from which comes the spring of his thoughts?

As there is a source from which come material things, and wisdom and love and life, so there is also a controlling and directing power which works in the human will. A conception of our relation to this source, which is the Infinite, reveals to us the fact that the same laws operate in every life; that an achievement possible to one soul is possible to another. The moment one truly realizes that he can rise, he will rise, and the closer his relations with the Infinite, the more clearly will he understand his own powers.

A true realization of this relation enables man to subordinate the physical to the mental and to give the spiritual forces supremacy. He who yields to the higher inspirations which come to him as a result of his relationship with the Infinite, will not hesitate to depart from beaten paths and give his own powers opportunity for development. He will not fail to realize that each day is a new day, nor will he fail finally to enjoy the riches of a well lived life.

We, members of the class of 1913, are standing on the threshold of a new day, a new life. Its opportunities are many; its door opens to each one of us alike, and however different our plans and ambitions, there is an open field for each. We have all dreamed our dreams and built our air-castles, but we shall not stop here. Yielding to higher inspirations which come to us as a result of our sense of oneness with the Infinite, we shall enter fearlessly into the world of work and thought.

Our hopes are bright today as we look into the future. We have already laid a good foundation, and as we continue to build in different surroundings, some of our number will forsake the beaten paths and enter into the realization of their creative power. These will be few, yet none of us need fear that we shall fail in our new work, for

“There is no noble height we cannot climb,
All triumphs may be ours in times futurity;
If whatso'er our fault, we do not fail, or halt,
But lean upon the staff of God's security.”

Pleasantly we view the years we have passed at Indiana, joyfully we look into the future, yet it is with sadness that we leave our Alma Mater. The years we have passed here have been happy ones. Distance will not sever the friendships we have formed, and time will not blot out the remembrance of the kindness and love we have received. May we prove to have been deserving! In the name of the class of 1913, I bid farewell to students and faculty, to Miss Leonard and to Dr. Ament.

Vera Amy Simpson.

Miss Jane E. Leonard

Dr. Howard M. Welch, '95, who has been in Germany for a year with his wife and son making a special study of insanity, intends to remain there for two years longer. In connection with his studies he and his family are making some pleasant journeys in beautiful and out of the way places in Germany. He writes that he often thinks of geography and history lessons he had at the Normal, and he recalls with great satisfaction his fellow students and teachers in those classes.

Miss Blanche McNall, 1891, who like so many of our girls aims at self-improvement by travel and study, spent last summer in Columbia University taking a course in Psychology also in the principles of Design.

Miss Laura B. Walker, 1900, has returned to her work in Egypt. She has been promoted to the principalship of the Central Girls High School, Alexandria, Egypt. This year spent in America she gave to improvement in study in the Moody Institute in Chicago and in resting and building up her health at the Battle Creek Sanitarium. This sanitarium like the one at Clifton Springs, New York, is very generous and most attentive to missionaries, in this way they are enabled to attend who otherwise could not in the least procure such benefits.

Miss Walker is not only an excellent missionary, but she is also a lovely hostess who would be glad to see her Normal friends at Alexandria when they are making, as so many of them do, their Mediterranean trips.

Dr. Bible, teacher of Elocution who left us to become Principal of East Stroudsburg Normal School, is like Mr. Bryan, a Chautauqua Institute lecturer. Already his two little girls are young women. The older one, Helen, is married and living in Bellefonte. The second one, Dorothy M. has become a violinist of great talent and ability. The "Philadelphia Record" speaks of her rendering at a concert lately Bruch's "Concerto in G minor, Vorspiel Adagio," and says she delighted her audience by her brilliant technique and exquisite expression, receiving encore after encore. The Philadelphia "Evening Bulletin" says that Miss Bible's career as a remarkable violinist is becoming more evident each succeeding season. The Normal friends of Mr. and Mrs. Bible wish heartily to congratulate them upon Dorothy's captivating success.

Jennie Brown, '12, is teaching at Elizabethtown, Pa. She has second grade work.

The Picnic

The picnic at the Stevens' farm turned out to be a great surprise this year. The expectation was for a large company, but a long continued rain of the night before led to the fear in the morning that all thought of attendance at the picnic would be given up, then again the heavy rain at noon strengthened this apprehension. But, Normal people are not so easily dashed, and instead of nobody as was expected there were one hundred forty people there. It led one to ask what the crowd would have been had the weather been favorable.

The crowd was as gay, the baskets were as full and inviting, and Dr. Stevens and his family were just as hospitable and their lawn just as lovely as of yore. And in addition the barn floor was prepared for dancing for both afternoon and evening. The band of musicians came at noon and remained until the departure of the guests in the evening.

Too much cannot be said for the kindness and public spirit of Dr. Stevens. Normal people owe him a great deal for the pleasure he has given them, and this indebtedness extends to his wife and sons and daughter, who are in no way behind him.

Dr. Carmalt was elected president for the coming year, Mrs. Ida Leisher secretary, Miss Edna Heck, assistant secretary, and Mrs. Madge Pillow, treasurer. There were short addresses made by the retiring president, Mr. A. C. Gordon, Mr. Thomas Sutton, president of the Board of Trustees, Miss Jane E. Leonard and Mr. Louis Lutton, '96.

By a vote the next meeting is to be held July 11, 1914. There was a rousing vote of thanks for Dr. Stevens.

Engagements, Marriages, Births

It is seldom that we are able to record the marriages of three of our teachers in the same number of the "Herald," but such is our happiness in this issue.

Miss Ella Clare Pine was married at Crown Point, Lake Minnetonka, Minn., to Mr. Merium Buckingham Miller. Miss Pine will be recalled as the teacher who so successfully organized and for the first year taught our Domestic Science department. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Miller is in Willard, Utah.

Mr. Harry Phythyon was married to Miss Anne Wolf on September 11, at Sharon, Penna. Mr. Phythyon was at one time our Commercial teacher and is well remembered by Normalites.

Miss Edith G. Chesebrough and Mr. Peter S. McGuire were married at Buffalo, N. Y., on the fifth of July. Miss Chesebrough was for several years one of the most skillful teachers of mathematics. The home of Mr. and Mrs. McGuire is twenty-eight Russell Avenue, Buffalo, N. Y.

To all of these the "Herald" takes from their fellow teachers at the Normal School and from all other Normal friends unusual good wishes. May they each have what they all deserve, long lives in homes where peace, contentment and love abide.

Mary Crombie, a graduate of the class of 1898, and subsequently of Vassar College, and one of our teachers for several years, is now Mrs. James Garrett, of Mt. Washington, Md. She writes one of her characteristic letters, and this time she writes more charmingly than ever, for her whole heart is in her "new life,"—her husband, her home, her friends and her neighbors. In spite of all her college work and great scholarly attainments and ambitions, she has turned out to be a wonderful housekeeper and hostess. "I am domestic," she says, "very domestic."

Those who remember how Mary used to like to play at cooking at the Normal will not be surprised to learn that during the first year of her house-keeping she undertook all the household cares herself. She marketed, swept, cooked,—everything pertaining to the management of a house. And company, no end of it, that is in keeping with her old spirit too. During the first three weeks of her house-keeping she had company for twenty-one meals. Her old friends take notice.

Miss Anna M. Henry, 1909, and Mr. John Lewis, of Indiana, were married July fourth at the Henry home, West Lebanon. Mr. and Mrs. Lewis live at 420 South Thirteenth Street, Indiana, Pa.

Miss Jean Violet Johns, 1905, and Mr. August Fletcher Rowe were recently married at the home of the bride's parents at Wilkinsburg. The couple will reside at 1311 Center Street, Wilkinsburg, Pa. Mr. Rowe is a graduate of Cornell University. He is an electrical engineer in the employ of the Westinghouse Electrical and Manufacturing Company, East Pittsburgh. Both he and his bride are prominent church workers. Mr. Rowe is the former president of the Epworth League of the Pittsburgh District.

Miss Ida M. Jack, 1905, was married to our former student, Carl B. Smith, Esq., of Pittsburgh, on August thirtieth. Mr. Smith is a rising member of the Allegheny County Bar Association, and is connected with the law firm of Zehner, Smith and Bradshaw, with offices in the Bakewell Building, Pittsburgh.

Mr. Charles H. Moses, Jr., of Knoxville, Tenn., and Miss Olive Ramsay, eldest daughter of Supt. and Mrs. Wm. Ramsay, of Coral, were married in the First Presbyterian Church, of Indiana, on Thursday afternoon, September the twenty-fifth. Miss Catharine Ramsay, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, J. Herbert Russell acted as Mr. Moses' best man. The wedding march was played by Miss Mary St. Clair King, of the Normal Faculty. The wedding dinner was served at the Indiana House. Miss Ramsay was a quite well known Normal student.

Mr. Carr Kemper Sutton and Miss Anna May Daugherty, 1906, were married at the home of the bride's parents in Indiana, Pa., on the sixteenth of September. Mr. Kemper Sutton, a graduate of Princeton, did his preparatory work in Indiana, and was later a member of our Faculty. Miss Daugherty graduated at Indiana in 1906, and later at Smith College, more recently she taught in the Indiana Public Schools. The residence of Mr. and Mrs. Sutton is in Indiana, Pa.

Our older students who were here in the time of Dr. and Mrs. Snyder, will recall their "little boy," Tyndale, and they will realize for the first time how long it is since they were at Indiana when we tell them that Earl Tyndale Snyder was married to Miss Cora Carthew Broman, in the City of Denver, on the seventeenth of September. Mr. and Mrs. Snyder will reside in Greeley, Colo. And this is another piece of the good fortune of our Dr. and Mrs. Snyder that both of their children though married live in Greeley and so their family remains undivided.

Miss Sarah Hazlette Crawford, 1906, was married to Mr. Harry Clement Crawford, Wednesday, October ninth, 1912.

Jean Young McIlroy, 1909, was married Monday, June thirtieth, in McKeesport, Pa., to Mr. Walter Murray Whitmyre. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Whitmyre is at Dubuque, Iowa.

A beautiful wedding took place in St. Paul's Church, Phillipsburg, at six thirty o'clock, Tuesday evening, October seventh, when Anna Isabelle Eastmont, a graduate of our Commercial Teachers' Training Course, 1912, was married to Mr. Robert Sutton Sutton. Following the wedding there was a charming reception at the Parish house. The many Normal friends of Mr. and Mrs. Sutton will be glad to greet them in Indiana where the new home is to be.

Miss Grace E. Ludwick, 1907, was married to Mr. Dio Lewis McCormick, Monday, September second, at Irwin, Pa.

Miss Zelde Virginia Domb, 1908, was married at the home of her parents in Valier, August 26, to Mr. Roy C. Schaffner, of Falls Creek, Pa. After the ceremony the couple started on an automobile trip to Cambridge Springs and Chautauqua Lake.

The engagement of Miss Vida Van Horn, 1905, of Homestead, to Frederick W. Hyle, of Detroit, Mich., was announced at a luncheon given Saturday, September 20, by Miss Le Mira and Miss Charlotte McClerry at their home in Munhall. The Normal girls among the guests were Miss Mae Davies, Miss Jessie Steinmitz, and Miss Alice Hirth.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel McCrum, of Bradford, Pa., announce the marriage of their daughter Alice, 1913, to Mr. Charles Frye Spinning, Wednesday, October the first, 1913.

Mr. Charles George Gordon Woodward was born Mach 29. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Woodward, as we do not need to inform Normalites, are missionaries in Abaian, Gilbert Islands, via Sydney, N. S. W. But Gordon had the good fortune to be born in a fine little German hospital in the Island of Juluit, Marshall Islands.

Little Eleanor Gordon, daughter of our Prof. and Mrs. Gordon, was born on the twenty-ninth of June. Prof. Gordon, it is not necessary to say, has ever since been wearing the happiest of smiles, and he and Mrs. Gordon are not yet through receiving congratulations.

A son, Andrew W. Wilson, was born to Mr. James Dick Wilson and Mrs. Clara M. Wagner Wilson, 1905, on August 13, at Santa Ana, California. The name "Andrew W. Wilson" is sacred in the hearts of Normal people and all the pepole of Indiana County.

Sarah Jane Lehnkering daughter of Mr. Harry Lehnkering and Alice J. Crawford Lehnkering, 1895, Menominee, Michigan, was born on the thirtieth day of May.

Milton Godfrey Schoch, Jr., came to the home of Milton Godfrey Schoch and Ruth Foresman Schoch, 1909, in Oakmont, Pa.

Maurice O. Smith II, was welcomed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Maurice O. Smith, June 11, 1913.

These are the newest members of the Normal School alumni, and we hope soon to greet them at Indiana.

Deaths

Rev. Dr. George S. Holmes, for four years pastor of the Indiana Methodist Episcopal Church, died at his home in Swissvale, September 20. For the large number of our students who attended Dr. Holmes' church when they were at school, we insert the following account taken from the Indiana Gazette Times:

The Rev. Dr. George S. Holmes, a former pastor of the Indiana Methodist Episcopal church for four years, died at his home in Swissvale, Wednesday evening. The Rev. Holmes was born in Steubenville, Ohio, in 1854. He was a graduate of the Ohio Wesleyan University and received his degree from Lafayette College. He was ordained a minister in 1870 and for three years was pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church at Meyersdale. Following this he spent two years in California and then came to Pittsburgh, where as a member of the Pittsburgh Conference he served the pastorates of the West End church, Pittsburgh; Crafton, Coraopolis, Indiana, Irwin and Swissvale. He was a lecturer of note and spoke at various Chautauquas and Bible schools. He was the author of the "Analytical Manual of the English Bible." He leaves one brother, Charles A. Holmes secretary of the Pittsburgh Publicity association, and two sisters, Miss Rachel, with whom he lived, and Mrs. S. M. Mackey, the wife of the Rev. S. M. Mackey, of Elizabeth, Pa.

The funeral services were held at the Holmes' home in Swissvale, Saturday morning at 10 o'clock, and interment was made at that place.

The older students will be greatly interested and at the same time deeply saddened in the following detailed account of the death of one of the most highly esteemed of our alumni, Robert M. Wilson, taken from the "Indiana Gazette Times":—

The community was profoundly shocked this morning to hear of the sudden death of Mr. Robert Miles Wilson, which occurred at the Wilson home on Church street, this morning about 8:45 o'clock. Mr. Wilson had been confined to his home for about a week with an attack of typhoid fever. This morning the attending physician congratulated Mr. Wilson upon his fine condition and said that the case was progressing most favorably. Shortly after the physician's departure, the nurse was in the act of giving Mr. Wilson his morning bath, when he gave a slight gasp and before the doctor could be summoned death came. The immediate cause of death as agreed upon by the medical men was heart failure, superinduced by the fever.

The son of J. Taylor and Mrs. Sarah Gonzales Wilson, the deceased was born and raised on a farm near Belleville, Mifflin county, January 1, 1863. He graduated from the regular course at the Indiana State Normal School in 1886, and from the scientific course, two years later. Following his graduation, Mr. Wilson was principal of the Philipsburg High School for two years, when he came back to Indiana where he read law with the Hon. John P. Ellis.

The deceased located in Blairsville in August 1892, where he practiced law for one year, during which time he became a member of the Indiana County Bar association. Following his law practice, Mr. Wilson became cashier of the First National Bank of Blairsville, in which position he served for almost 10 years. Upon the organization of the Savings & Trust company here, Mr. Wilson came to Indiana as secretary and treasurer of the organization, which position he occupied at the time of his death.

Essentially a home person, Mr. Wilson became identified with the business interests of Indiana, shortly after taking up his residence here. He was a shrewd business man, and his part in the workings of the Savings & Trust company was a prominent one. He was a member of the Presbyterian church here and was interested to a great degree in church matters. His opinion in business matters was eagerly sought and his reputation as a banker was state-wide. Indiana lost a good citizen in the death of Mr. Wilson and his place will not easily be filled.

Mrs. Mintie Mulroy Murry, later Mrs. A. L. Wiley, was one of the foremost members of the class of 1893, and it is remarkable that hers is the only death that has during twenty years occurred in the class. She died just one week after the celebration of the twentieth anniversary of her class' graduation at which she was expected to be present. Her old teachers and Normal friends and especially all the members of her class will be interested in the following sketch of her life:—

Mintie Mulroy Murry was born at Murrysville, October 15, 1868. She was the daughter of Captain John Murry, M.D., and granddaughter of Gen. James Murry. Her great grandfather, Jeremiah Murry, was the first settler at Murrysville, about 1781.

Mintie received her early education in the public schools and Laird Institute of Murrysville.

She early united with the Presbyterian Church and always manifested a marked interest in religion, attending most regularly the services of the church, and engaging in active Christian work. While still a child, she decided to devote her life to work in the foreign field.

She taught school one term in 1889-90; and in September 1890 entered the I. S. N. S., graduating in 1893. During her years at Normal she was a leader in the Christian work among the students. Her room-mate for two years at school, recently said "Mintie was absolutely the best girl I ever knew, and she had marvellous influence with the girls in School. During all the years I knew her I never heard her use a word she could not have used in any place." Another school friend standing looking at Mintie's face, cold in death, said with tears in her eyes, "She was the leader of the religious life among the girls in school, and her influence is still felt in the lives of many of the girls."

After graduation she taught three years in the Irwin Schools and three years in the Wilkinsburg schools. The principals of these schools say that she was the best teacher they ever had under them and several of her pupils testify that her influence upon their lives was greater than that of any other person.

In February 1899 she was appointed as a missionary to India by the Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church.

On June 6, 1899, she was married to the Rev. A. L. Wiley, and with her husband sailed for India September 22, 1899, where for fourteen years, she labored at Ratuagin strenuously and effectively, leaving her impress on the work and the people, putting her very life into the lives of hundreds of boys and girls and women, who for years will go on reproducing that life.

Her work was the care of the boys' orphanage and a girls' orphanage, and of a number of widows, and the principalship of a school consisting of kindergarten, primary, middle and high school departments. Her orphan boys and girls were the best trained and most polite to be found anywhere, so many visitors testified. Her school was brought to the highest standard of efficiency. In 1911 the best school in Ratuagin passed only 43 per cent. of its pupils, while Mrs. Wiley's school, examined by the same Government Inspectors, had a record of 87 per cent. passing. All her work was done in the same efficient way.

She wore herself out in this work. The doctor's certificate, when she was ordered home on account of her health, stated that she had broken down from over work. She entered into rest July 5, 1913, at Clifton Springs, N. Y.

The secret of the success of her life and triumphant death was her absolute trust in her Lord and in His Word. She had three stated periods each day on which she went apart alone to commune with Him. She lived a life of prayer, and her life was rich in the experience of answered prayers. Some years ago a hundred dollars was needed very much for a particular work in the Ratuagin district. One Monday morning she said to her husband, "Let us have special prayer for that one hundred dollars this morning." Mail comes in about four weeks from New York to Ratuagin. Just four weeks from the morning of the special prayer for the one hundred dollars, she said, "we shall receive that one hundred dollars this morning." The husband was not so confident, but when the mail came a few moments later, it had a letter in which was enclosed a check for one hundred dollars. She walked and talked with her Master and knew His Word. She began to read the Bible through once a year when she united with the Church. Before going to India she had read the Bible through nineteen times. After her death the record of her Bible reading in India, was found written on the fly leaf of her Bible. She had read it through twenty-three times alone in India, and had read it through with her husband fourteen times, or in all fifty-six times.

The marked characteristics of Mrs. Wiley's life was her living trust in the Master whom she served so faithfully; a passion for her work and absolute fidelity to her work in all its details; the faculty of inspiring her companions and those under her to do their best always; and intense love for the people of India, especially for the orphan children and widows. The beauty, strength and purity of her character was felt by all who met her, but was best known by those who knew her best. She is not dead, but liveth in the lives of hundreds of those whom she loved and helped on their way up to God.

Our alumni, who presented to the school Miss Leonard's portrait in 1900, will be sorry to learn of the death of the painter of the portrait, Mr. Horatio Stevens. Mr. Stevens a few years ago, to use his own phrase, "had grown old in the harness" and desiring to devote the remainder of his life to travel and study, disposed of his school of fine arts in Pittsburgh. He enjoyed his new life greatly and most of all the artistic triumph of having one of his works the "Captive" hung on the line in the Paris Salon—a coveted honor in Paris. He was on a short visit to America at the time of his death, which occurred in New York in the late summer.

Conservatory Notes

The same condition prevails in the music school as heretofore, lack of room. The class in Public School Music taxes the class room capacity, and the number taking special courses is larger than ever before.

The new members of the faculty are Mrs. and Mrs. Orley See.

Mr. See is a gifted violinist with a fine repertory, and Mrs. See is a capable and experienced teacher. They are college graduates and are thoroughly acquainted with school life and methods.

They are natives of Ohio, the state that produces such good musicians and Presidents. The Conservatory is to be congratulated that such genial, cultured musicians are on the teaching force.

The attendance from several different states shows that the reputation of the school is growing.

Another teacher of piano will be added to the faculty as soon as one can be secured to meet the requirements; an experienced artist, a man who will head the department.

Owing to the congested conditions, Professor See and Mrs. See have their studios in one of the Campus Cottages.

A series of Faculty Recitals will be inaugurated soon and outside musical attractions are assured.

THE FOOTBALL BOYS

The football season so far has been one of marked success, Indiana having met four teams, scoring as many victories. Football prognosticators who have watched the team in action and have seen its improvement from week to week, prophesy another season of victories for Indiana Normal.

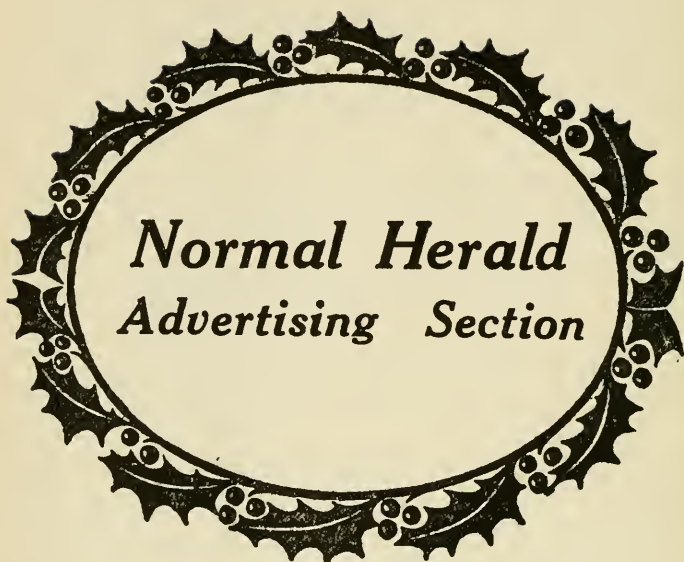

Confronted by the usual difficulties of filling vacancies left by the old men who graduated, Mount Pleasant has succeeded remarkably well in building up a team around the nucleus of veterans left from last year. There is a wealth of new material to pick from, at least forty men reporting daily for practice. Many of these men are green at the game, but the backfield candidates under Mount Pleasant, and the line aspirants under McDowell will soon acquire the rudiments, in time the fine points, of the game.

The old men are Morrow, who is playing his usual brilliant game at half-back, Capt. White who is leading the team at quarter-back, and Hicks at end, who is doing good work offensively and defensively as well as putting some well directed place kicks over the bar. The other in line men are Seeman, Duds, Herrick and Bofil. The new men who have been showing up well are Gano at full-back, Thomas at end, George at half-back and Correy, the new center from Indiana High School. With numerous other good men on the field there is hot competition going on for each position, no man being assured of his place.

Saturday the team goes to Bellefonte to meet its old rivals. Here the first real test of its ability will come as the Bellefonte team is strong this year. The team has high hopes of a victory over Bellefonte, however, as well as over Kiski when they meet at Indiana, November twenty-second.

Commercial Teachers' Training Course

Prepares teachers to teach Commercial Subjects in High Schools and Academies. Salaries offered are very attractive.

Trained Help Wanted

In the business world today there are no calls for the young man or young woman who "can do almost anything." The calls are for trained help, for persons who can do some one thing well. Private secretaries, stenographers, book-keepers and trained office assistants are always in demand, and they command excellent salaries. The completion of one of these courses with us means Life-Long Independence.
